OCTOBER'S STUDENTS OF THE MONTH

Wil O'Toole

In Ms. Tierney's class, the October's student of the month this month is Wil O'Toole. Wil has been working extremely hard this year. He is keeping up a positive attitude about school and is trying his best on assignments. He has been working well with his partner on a Social Studies project and listens and respectfully shares his ideas with her. He is also respectful to his classmates in general, holding doors for them and helping them when asked. Wil has been focused in class, sits quietly, listens and always follows directions right away. Keep up the good work Wil! It is a pleasure to have you in class.

Montana Jackson

September is a month of firsts: new grade, new teachers, new curriculum, new rules, new routines and first impressions.

Montana Jackson was so very shy and quiet the first day of fifth grade, hardly saying a word except a softly spoken, "Good Morning." At the end of the day while in line to go home, I complimented her on the pretty Sunday-best dress she was wearing and she responded with a "Thank you" and a bright smile, glad that I had noticed. Montana came to school on that first day wanting to make a good first impression.

Over the next few weeks I came to realize that Montana wasn't interested in just making a positive first impression but a lasting impression. Montana's character is demonstrated everyday with the kindness, respect, and consideration she shows to others. During morning meeting she has opened herself up to the class and allowed us to see her good-hearted nature and love for people and animals. As a student she is well organized, enthusiastic towards learning, and does what is expected, including homework without complaining.

Congratulations Montana for being named October's Student of the Month.

Eli Fish

It is with pleasure that I nominate Eli Fish for Student of the Month. Eli is a great role model for his classmates and for the younger children of FRES. He always gives his best effort and exemplifies the learning habits of the CARES program. Eli's calm manner helps lead to a positive classroom environment. His peers seek him out when working in groups, as they know he is a good friend and can quickly help resolve any conflicts that might arise.
