

Bill Preble Bio

Bill Preble is a Professor of Education at New England College and Executive Director of The Center for School Climate and Learning. He holds a Doctoral degree in Education from the University of Maine, a Master of Education degree from the University of Washington, and earned his teaching certification at New England College.

Bill has worked in hundreds of schools across the country, written two books, numerous book chapters, published his work in ASCD's Educational Leadership and several other academic journals, and presented his research and writing at state, regional, and national conferences. He and his colleagues at the CSCL also design and conduct independent educational programs and produce evaluations for educational publishers and schools under the name of Main Street Academix.

Presentation Overview

1. The history of what we have done already with CSCL and our student leadership team
2. Our goals
 - a. School beautification
 - b. Improving teaching and learning
 - c. Respect for all
3. How are we moving toward these goals?
 - a. Students and staff will present on each goal
4. Bright spots and where we head from here!